

2022 ANNUAL REPORT

Helping Families Thrive in Christ

LETTER FROM JIM DALY

Our dedicated team here at Focus on the Family hit the ground running in 2022 – and as we consider the many lives that were touched and changed by our ministry efforts last year, we're all the more motivated to carry on the family-strengthening mission God has set before us. Of course, defending and nurturing families is no small task. The culture seems to undermine marriage at every turn, parents are grappling with ever-increasing assaults on their children's faith and innocence, and our beleaguered economy in this post-pandemic world places unique pressures on families all over the globe. Indeed, people are desperate for practical help as they seek to preserve their marriages and raise godly, resilient, and caring kids – and that's where Focus comes in. We're so grateful to our faithful donors for the many opportunities we've been given to advance the Kingdom by helping foster strong, thriving families.

Throughout the pages of this report, I hope you'll gain a glimpse into the Lord's mighty and gracious hand upon our work. Our Hope Restored marriage intensive program, for example, continues intervening in troubled marriages to bring healing and reconciliation – and we're excited about our new sites for our Hope Restored intensives that are forthcoming in both Arizona and Texas. Meanwhile, each and every day we're able to equip parents in their crucial role by offering Christ-centered broadcasts, podcasts, online content, and print resources geared specifically toward moms and dads. We also offer quality resources especially for youngsters, such as our kids' magazines and our award-winning Adventures in Odyssey radio program, and college students and young adults can find a wealth of insightful articles and podcasts at Boundless.org. As if that weren't enough, we are helping women choose life for their babies through the Option Ultrasound program while empowering folks to stay informed and make their voices heard through our issues-oriented website, Daily Citizen. Through these initiatives and many more, our primary goal remains unchanged: to help usher hurting people into a saving relationship with Jesus Christ.

Our outreach is only possible because generous friends like you have chosen to invest your hard-earned resources into our endeavors. I can't begin to express the depth of our gratitude, and I hope this report provides you with an inspiring overview of the transforming, life-giving, family-building work that's being carried out thanks to God's faithfulness and your sacrificial involvement. May the Lord return your kindness many times over!

I have used Focus resources in my marriage, parenting, friendships, and my walk with the Lord. It is so great to see my adult children listening to and referencing Focus on the Family in their lives. Wow, two generations influenced and fed with Truth by Focus on the Family. Thanks! It makes me smile!

Last year my husband and I became first-time parents to our daughter, and ever since the day she was in my belly we've been watching the Focus on the Family videos. As a new mom, I have taken so much encouragement from all the different speakers/authors God has placed on your show. Most of the time it feels as though God is speaking directly to me through the wisdom and teaching each week.

GUIDELINES FOR FUNDRAISING

Here at Focus on the Family, we believe that the way an organization handles its finances is a reflection of its integrity and reliability in every arena. As a result, we have chosen to limit and regulate our methods of money management with great care. Here are the principles and policies that have guided us through the years:

1. We believe that this ministry belongs to God and that we are merely His managers and stewards. Our role can be summed up in a single phrase: to stay accountable to His objectives, interests and concerns.
2. The Lord gives and the Lord takes away (Job 1:21). As long as He supplies the means, we will continue to serve others in His name. If He closes the door and cuts off our support, we will regard this as an indication of His sovereign will. We understand that the future of His work in the world does not depend upon the survival of this organization.
3. God sustains this work through the generosity of His people. Focus' continuation as a ministry is directly dependent upon their willingness and ability to give. It follows that our friends need to know about our financial circumstances. Accordingly, we will not hesitate to provide them with relevant information, both in the good times and in the bad. But we will not beg or resort to disrespectful or dishonorable methods of fundraising, since this would only be to insult their sensibilities and disavow our confidence in the Lord. Nor will we ever attempt to raise more money than we need.

4. In the same attitude of high regard for those who make our ministry possible, we will never sell or rent our donor database. On the contrary, we will treat our supporters' personal information as a solemn trust and maintain the tightest security on our list of contributors and friends.
5. In view of the sacrificial nature of the contributions we receive—contributions which, in many cases, come from families who are struggling to pay the mortgage and keep food on the table—we are determined to steward our financial resources as carefully and conservatively as possible. There is no room for extravagant or unnecessary expenditures in Focus on the Family's operating budget.
6. For similar reasons, we will resist the temptation to run the ministry at a deficit. If on occasion it becomes necessary to borrow funds to cover large and unforeseen expenditures, we will do our best to repay the loans as quickly as possible. When we make a purchase, we will pay the invoice within 30 days.
7. We believe that a Christian's first financial obligation is to the church; we have no desire to come between our friends and the local congregations to which they belong and from which they derive their spiritual sustenance. As a result, we do not expect them to contribute to our ministry until after they have supported the work of God's kingdom in their own faith communities.

8. We will implement measures to ensure fairness and accountability in all of our financial interactions with donors and supporters. To be specific, we will receipt all donations and show the fair market value of any materials requested and sent in order to help contributors determine the tax-deductible portion of their gifts.
9. As a way of holding ourselves accountable to the principles articulated above, we will conform to the standards established by the Evangelical Council for Financial Accountability (ECFA), an organization created to ensure ethical fundraising and administration practices.

These, then, are the principles that have defined our philosophy of financial stewardship and shaped our approach to fundraising. They are based upon a firm conviction that everything we are and everything we have comes to us by the grace of God. Provided we remain faithful, we are confident that the Lord will sustain us while His purposes for this ministry endure.
